Seriousness Of Hint Questioned

CONCORD, N. H., June 23 (P)—President Eisenhower today picked New Hampshire — which gave him an early lift toward the White House in 1952—to suggest teasingly that he might seek a second term.

The suggestion — maybe serious, maybe just in fun—touched off a roar of applause and whoops of approval in a police-estimated crowd of 15,000 persons in State House Plaza here.

Hint Pinned To Adams

Eisenhower, touring northern New England, had been telling the crowd how his chief aide former Gov. Sherman Adams of New Hampshire—boasts to the White House staff about the state. Then, bringing up the subject of a second term himself, the President went on to say:

"People often ask me what my ideas are on how long I would like a residence in 1600 Pennsylvania Avenue (the White House). 'My own thought is: They should ask how long it is going to take Governor Adams to finish his series of lectures on New Hampshire, because he doesn't seem to be a third of the way through them yet.'"

Arithmetic Works Out

The arithmetic of the situation is this: Eisenhower has completed just about 2½ years of his four year term. If Adams is only about a third of the way through his "lectures," he needs about another five years to complete them.

And another five years would take Eisenhower just about through a second term.

The big question, though, was whether Eisenhower was just having a bit of fun—or whether he meant to hint that he may run again.

The occasion for Eisenhower's informal talk here was an outdoor session of the New Hampshire Legislature—the first in the state's history.

Adams, who was one of the earliest Eisenhower-for-President boosters in the 1952 campaign, was on the speakers' platform with the chief executive today.

Federal Wage Hike Up To Ike

WASHINGTON, June 23 (P)—A bill to raise the pay of 1,073,262 federal employees 7½ per cent was sent by Congress today to the White House for President Eisenhower's expected signature.

The raise, if finally enacted into law, would be retroactive to March 1.

Today's vote in both the Senate and the House was on a compromise version of bills previously passed by both chambers.

By voice vote the Senate approved the compromise shortly after noon, and the House vote followed.

Leaders in both Houses say they are sure the President will sign the legislation.

Totalling about 328 million dollars a year, the raises will go to 963,057 classified civil service workers throughout the country and 90,205 related workers.

Post office workers previously had been voted a pay raise of approximately 8 per cent.

FORT WORTH, Tex., June 23 (P)—Amon G. Carter, publisher of the Fort Worth Star-Telegram and widely known as the "range boss of West Texas," died today at the age of 75.

Demo Chief Sounds Call For Defeat Of Sen. Butler

BALTIMORE, June 23 (P)—Democratic National Chairman Paul M. Butler urged Maryland Democrats tonight to unite to defeat Sen. John M. Butler (R-Md.) next year. He described the senator's voting record as "one of the worst of the old guard Republicans" in Congress.

Butler sounded his unity call in a speech prepared for a party rally. At least four potential Democratic senatorial candidates were invited to the rally including former Sen. Millard Tydings, who lost to Sen. Butler in 1950.

Viewing the national scene, Butler said the "badly split Republican party and lack of leadership from the White House is reflected in the strong Democratic trend that was climaxed by the congressional victory last November."

Turning to the state situation, the chairman said:

Doctors' Panel Endorses Salk Program, 8-2

WASHINGTON, June 23 (P)—A panel of polio experts voted 8-2 today to recommend continuing the Salk vaccination program this summer despite criticism by a few scientists that the vaccine is not safe enough.

A few hours later the program won another strong endorsement from Surgeon General Leonard Scheele.

The dramatic, unusual vote was taken at the request of the House Commerce subcommittee at a public hearing. It was not officially binding upon anyone, but it could swing a lot of weight with the public.

No Live Virus Found

Two days of testimony by the medical panel, in a jam-packed committee room, came to an end with these other highlights:

1. Officials reported no live virus has been found in vaccine made under newly revised safety standards, contrary to experience under the old standards.

2. Dr. Jonas Salk, developer of the vaccine now in use, said frequent injections apparently will not be needed to keep up immunity. He suggested the eventual pattern may be to give two or three shots in the first year of life, another the second year, and a booster at school age; and this may produce relatively long-range immunity.

"Hazard" In Some Cases

3. Dr. Thomas M. Rivers of the Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research said shots should not be given this summer to anyone with polio in the family, or where a child is suffering a mild illness with symptoms such as fever, sore throat or gastric or intestinal troubles. Dr. Rivers said there is a "slight hazard" that paralysis could be provoked by vaccination in such cases.

4. The panel voted unanimously in favor of trying to get weaker strains of polio virus into the vaccine as soon as possible.

In St. Louis, Basil O'Connor, head of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, strongly defended the vaccine's safety and attacked those who favor suspending the inoculation program.

And today Gen. Maxwell Taylor arrived to take over, later this month, the post of Army chief of staff — another phase of the Pentagon change. He is succeeding Gen. Matthew Ridgway, whom President Eisenhower passed over for a second term.

The short announcement on Anderson said "a successor will be nominated shortly."

This gave the impression that some individual presumably had been decided upon. There was immediate speculation about the choice.

One name prominently mentioned was that of Reuben B. Robertson Jr., a Hamilton, Ohio, paper company executive.

Adenauer Desires Sept. Moscow Talks

BONN, June 23 (P)—Chancellor Konrad Adenauer said tonight he wants to go to Moscow for the first half of September.

He told a visiting group of British newsmen he hoped that timing would place his visit between the Big Four summit meeting in Geneva and the subsequent foreign ministers conference which is expected to work out details of the Geneva decisions.

He said the Bonn answer to the Russian invitation to Moscow for discussions on establishment of diplomatic, trade and cultural relations would be sent in a few days.

USW Turns Down U. S. Steel Offer Of 10 Cents Hour Boost

Union Leader Says Proposal "Inadequate"

PITTSBURGH, June 23 (P)—U.S. Steel Corp. tonight offered the CIO United Steelworkers a wage increase "averaging more than 10 cents per hour" and the union immediately rejected it.

Union President David McDonald said the offer is "completely inadequate."

In a prepared statement, McDonald added:

"Our members refuse to be treated as second class citizens." "We can see no justification whatsoever for the union to accept a settlement this year, the most profitable in the industry's history, which is approximately one half of the cost of the settlements already made in the automobile industry."

"Discriminatory Treatment" "We will not accept such discriminatory treatment."

Clifford Hood, president of U.S. Steel, said the offer averages more than 10 cents an hour, he declared.

"The offer is substantial. It should produce a prompt settlement of the negotiations."

The union said it is prepared to "negotiate continually in around the clock sessions."

There was no immediate reply from big steel.

However, the union chief said he expected to meet with Vice President John Stephens, top negotiator for the corporation, over the weekend.

Deadline Next Thursday

About 150,000 of the nation's 600,000 basic steelworkers who are USW duespayers are employed by U.S. Steel.

Basic steel workers now average $2.33 an hour.

The union is seeking a "substantial" wage increase. It is free to strike at midnight next Thursday unless an agreement is reached.

Deputy Defense Secretary Will Relinquish Post

WASHINGTON, June 23 (P)—Deputy Secretary of Defense Robert Anderson is leaving the government this summer.

Secretary of Defense Charles Wilson announced today that Anderson—a Texas Democrat—for Eisenhower—has notified him that he intends to submit his resignation "in the next few months."

Announcement of the impending change in the Pentagon hierarchy followed by only a day the White House announcement of the resignation of Secretary of the Army Robert Stevens.

And today Gen. Maxwell Taylor arrived to take over, later this month, the post of Army chief of staff — another phase of the Pentagon change. He is succeeding Gen. Matthew Ridgway, whom President Eisenhower passed over for a second term.

The short announcement on Anderson said "a successor will be nominated shortly."

This gave the impression that some individual presumably had been decided upon. There was immediate speculation about the choice.

One name prominently mentioned was that of Reuben B. Robertson Jr., a Hamilton, Ohio, paper company executive.

Molotov Gives Final Approval To Parley Plans

SAN FRANCISCO, June 23 (P)—Russia's V. M. Molotov was understood today to have accepted the Western proposals for setting up next month's meeting of the Big Four chiefs of government at Geneva.

The Soviet foreign minister made his position known to Secretary of State John Foster Dulles during a luncheon at Molotov's house in Suburban Hillsborough.

Dulles asked him whether further talks on the arrangements would be necessary on a diplomatic level, as had been anticipated in the event no agreement was reached in San Francisco. Molotov replied that further discussions would not be necessary before the July 18 meeting.

Informed quarters said Dulles regarded this as final acceptance of Western proposals placed before Molotov last Monday night at a meeting of the Big Four foreign ministers.

These included:

(1) That the main purpose of the Geneva talks should be to decrease international tension and find means for peaceful settlement of outstanding problems.

(2) The first chairman of the summit talks would be President Eisenhower, followed by French Premier Edgar Faure, British Prime Minister Sir Anthony Eden and Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin, in that order.

(3) The talks would last from four to six days.

(4) They would be held at the Palais des Nations in Geneva and would be serviced by the U.N. secretariat.

11 Airmen Survive Navy Plane Crash

ANCHORAGE, Alaska, June 23 (P)—Eleven airmen survived the crash and burning of a Navy Neptune plane yesterday on remote St. Lawrence Island, less than 100 miles from Siberia.

The Alaska command reported all of them—seven injured and four unhurt—were evacuated by air during the night from the Bering Sea Island. The four-engine Neptune was from the Naval Air Station at Kodiak. The Navy reported the plane crashed while making an emergency landing on a routine patrol mission.

Molotov On Radio, TV Sunday Only

NEW YORK, June 23 (P)—Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov will appear on a Sunday radio and television interview show, but a Saturday broadcast of the same program has been cancelled, it was announced tonight.

The program, recorded and filmed in advance, will be carried Sunday at 3:30 p. m. (EST) on television and 9:05 p. m. on radio.

Payoff For Army Contract Denied

Cap Maker Refuses To Open Books

WASHINGTON, June 23 (P)—Senate investigators set off today on the trail of a rumored $100,000 bribe to government purchasing officers—and ran into a solid wall of indignant denials.

The question raised as the Senate Investigations subcommittee reopened an inquiry into alleged corruption in armed forces uniform procurement was: Did New York's Sol Schlesinger pay $100,000 to an Army colonel and two civilian aides to get a 1950 contract?

"Preposterous," snorted Schlesinger, who refused to open his books for the investigators because they "might tend to incriminate me."

"It's all based on myth!" cried Col. Louis H. Shirley, named by subcommittee Counsel Robert F. Kennedy in connection with the rumored payoff.

"I never took a dime off anybody," protested David Spatt, Shirley's onetime aide.

Kennedy never did say what information led him to ask whether there was a $100,000 payoff in connection with Schlesinger's 1950 contract to make half a million caps for the Air Force.

Sen. McClellan (D-Ark.) announced he is asking the Pentagon to cancel a current contract on which Schlesinger's firm is working, and also to deny him any further contracts in view of his refusal to answer questions about his financial affairs. The current contract was awarded this year.

Schlesinger, who lives in Freeport, Long Island, said he's already being investigated by income tax and army intelligence agents and will not open his books until he's in the clear.

Take-Home Pay Climbs As Prices Remain Steady

WASHINGTON, June 23 (P)—The government reported today living costs remained steady in May while the worker's pay envelope was fatter than ever before.

Secretary of Labor James Mitchell, announcing the new data personally said it reflects "a continuing pattern of overall national stability in retail prices which has stopped paycheck-robbering inflation."

"These two factors—record high take home pay for factory workers and stable prices for the goods and services the worker and his family buys, along with increasing job opportunities and declining unemployment—are concrete evidence of the strength of our economy. (They) mean continued prosperity for workers and their families."

Mitchell reported that living costs remained unchanged between April and May.

Yeh Declares China Regime Based On War

Nationalist Foreign Minister Calls For No "Appeasement"

SAN FRANCISCO, June 23 (P)—Nationalist China's Foreign Minister, George Yeh, today bitterly denounced communism as an evil menace to world peace. He appealed to the U. N. to face it squarely and not yield to "appeasement."

In an address to the 10th anniversary conference of the U. N., halted at one point by the gavel of the conference president, Yeh blasted the Chinese Communists particularly. He said their regime is based upon war and not peace.

Yeh deleted parts of his prepared text referring to the Formosa crisis and a statement that Peiping has created a military machine with which to threaten its neighbors and the rest of the world. It was the second time in this conference the President, Eelco Van Kleffens, had interrupted a speaker. He halted a Cuban blast at the Soviet Union yesterday.

The determined-looking Yeh sat down at the end of his speech to a long burst of applause from the public and many delegates.

Pinay Rejects Part Of Red Plan

Earlier France's Foreign Minister Antoine Pinay rejected two major points in Moscow's peace plan. Pinay lined up firmly with continuing efforts to achieve peace and international trust through the U. N.

Pinay said France ruled out the "senselessness" of a neutralized Germany. He also said France refuses to acknowledge that there are foreign military bases in NATO country.

Yeh read a large section of his speech attacking communism and saying it had been checked in Europe by a policy of strength. In Asia, however, he said Communist expansionism forges ahead with renewed vigor and a state of tension exists.

He assailed the regime of Mao Tse-tung for, he charged, "brainwashing" intellectuals, dumping narcotics on the world, and making religion an instrument of state policy.

Van Kleffens Interrupts

Van Kleffens interrupted to say he (Yeh) was straying from the purpose of the commemorative meeting and asked him to hold it.

Yeh, who had informed Van Kleffens of his speech during the morning, replied that he had not referred to any member of the U. N., nor had he accused any particular government represented in that meeting.

"I feel that I have the right to state the views of my government in regard to the events of the last 10 years and of the future," he said. "A number of delegates have made reference to the question of Chinese representation. I have not replied and I do not intend to reply."

Yeh said the U. N. is faced by a challenge stronger than that which confronted the League of Nations in the days of Mussolini's attack on Ethiopia.

"Let us hope that the United Nations, unlike its predecessor, will face up to the Communist challenge squarely and without equivocation," he said. "Let us hope that the United Nations will not let itself be turned into an instrument of appeasement."

USAF Kicks Out Friend Of Spy

WASHINGTON, June 23 (P)—The Air Force announced today it has discharged Col. Patrick W. Hayes under "conditions other than honorable" because he permitted himself to become involved with a German girl convicted in Berlin of Soviet espionage activities.

Air Force Secretary Harold Talbot also turned down Hayes' request that he be allowed to retire, with retirement pay based on 25 years of service.

Hayes' discharge became effective June 17.

The Air Force announced on Jan. 21 it had ordered Hayes to show cause why he should not be separated from the service.

The investigation was launched by the Air Force after the espionage conviction of Irmgard Schmidt. The investigation, the Air Force said, did not produce evidence warranting court-martial of the colonel, so the decision was made to discharge him by administrative action. The discharge under "conditions other than honorable" is possible without court-martial.

Senators Consider Test Of Executive Security Data Lid

Subcommittee May Take Issue To Court

WASHINGTON, June 23 (AP)—A Senate subcommittee today weighed the advisability of going into court to test the right of the government's executive agencies to withhold information from Congress.

Former Sen. Guy Gillette (D-Iowa), chief counsel for the Civil Service subcommittee, said the issue has never been passed on by the Supreme Court.

He advised the senators that "further failure to take necessary action either in the courts or by legislative enactment to clarify this very important question would only mean a perpetuation of confusion."

The question is a constitutional one about which Congress and the executive branch have been quarreling for many years.

At issue right now is the refusal of Wendell Barnes, head of the Small Business Administration, to let the subcommittee see the personnel and security files of George V. McDavitt, SBA's security chief. The senators are investigating the Eisenhower administration's employee security program.

Barnes has told the subcommittee the McDavitt files contained confidential investigative material which he is prohibited by presidential order from furnishing it. He offered instead to supply a digest of McDavitt's background and a copy of his job application.

A move is under way in Congress to create a special bipartisan commission for a study of the security program.

The plan was proposed by the Senate Government Operations Committee last Saturday and approved today by the House Judiciary Committee. The House group advocated a 12-man commission which would report to Congress by the end of the year.

Baltimorean Held After Fatal Fight

BALTIMORE, June 23 (AP)—Basil Zarafonitis and a waitress were having a playful game of catch with a piece of candy.

The 26-year-old Baltimore man was a frequent customer at the restaurant, and such informality was not uncommon.

On one of the tosses, the piece of candy struck Ralph E. Chaney, 35.

Police said witnesses reported that Zarafonitis apologized, but Chaney insisted the matter be settled on the sidewalk in front of the restaurant.

It was Chaney's head struck the sidewalk. He died last night in University Hospital about 48 hours after the fight without regaining consciousness.

Zarafonitis was charged today with fatal assault.

Nobleman's Ex-Wife Faces Dope Charge

LOS ANGELES, June 23 (AP)—The district attorney's office today issued narcotics complaints against Lois Evans, 25, former wife of a Polish nobleman, and a young woman student.

Narcotics officers charged they found seven tablets of amideone, a heroin substitute, in her apartment. She told the officers Miss Sandra Chrysler, 20, of Venice, Calif., was an overnight guest.

The two young women were arrested Saturday after police detectives said Miss Evans offered to sell them the drug. She denied selling narcotics.

Peron Cabinet Quits To Permit Reorganization

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina, June 23 (AP)—President Juan D. Peron's Cabinet resigned today to permit him to reorganize his government.

Announcement that all 16 ministers had presented their resignations was authorized by the government press secretariat.

Earlier in the day Peron had received several of the ministers in his temporary offices at his official residence.

He arranged a broadcast to the nation tonight, his fourth since the brief and bloody revolt of navy fliers and marines was put down by the army a week ago.

Lucero Visits President
Among visitors at the president's office were Army Minister Maj. Gen. Franklin Lucero, Defense Minister Gen. Humberto Sosa Molina, Air Minister Juan Ignacio San Martin, Foreign Minister Jeronimo Remorino and Interior Minister Angel Gabriel Borlenghi.

Developments of the past two days have demonstrated that Peron remains Argentina's boss despite the revolt and rumors it had weakened his grip.

Support Reaffirmed
The General Confederation of Labor (CGT) and the men's and women's Peronista parties—whose memberships total in the millions—have reaffirmed their unquestioning support of Peron.

Perhaps more importantly, the army has made a new declaration of loyalty through Maj. Gen. Franklin Lucero, the army minister who has commanded all armed forces and the police since the revolt.

Boy Will Share Good Fortune

SYRACUSE, N. Y., June 23 (AP)—When 10-year-old Kevin Walsh wrote a letter to the editor two weeks ago, his hope was that "some kind person" would return his stolen clothes.

Those clothes which he bought with money he earned himself, have not come back. But from kind persons in many places have come new clothes and cash totaling $100.

What will Kevin do with the money?

"I'm going to give it to the poor," says the pink-cheeked, brown-haired boy. "I've gotten $18 worth of shirts and three pair of pants, and I only lost two."

Priest Says Peron Has Married Girl, 19

RIO DE JANEIRO, June 23 (AP)—The newspaper O Globo today quoted a priest as saying President Juan Peron of Argentina has secretly married a 19-year-old girl named Laura Del Solar.

Peron's wife, Eva, a major factor in Argentine politics, died of cancer in 1952.

The Roman Catholic priest, the Rev. Jose Fernandez, told the newspaper he escaped from Buenos Aires to Asuncion, Paraguay, after the June 16 revolution in the Argentine capital. Father Fernandez arrived in Rio De Janeiro yesterday.

Virginia Schools Stay Segregated

RICHMOND, Va., June 23 (AP)—Gov. Thomas Stanley and the state Board of Education today announced a policy of continuing Virginia's segregated public schools the next school year.

This policy was adopted at a three-hour conference of board members in Stanley's office.

The policy carries out the recommendations of a special 32-member legislative commission on public education. Stanley endorsed the recommendations earlier.

Stanley and Board President Blake Newton handed newsmen a statement which said the problems "created by the (school integration) decision of the U. S. Supreme Court cannot be solved suddenly."

The court's decision, the statement said, "recognized that those responsible may well take into account the public interest in the elimination of existing obstacles in a systematic and effective manner."

"The state board is of the opinion that hasty action could well result in serious damage to the public school system."

More than 700 union bus drivers have been on strike idling a total of 1,800 employees.

Ike's Plea Turned Down By Negro Congressman

WASHINGTON, June 23 (AP)—Rep. Powell (D-N.Y.) today turned down a personal appeal by President Eisenhower to withdraw anti-segregation amendments the President said would kill "essential" military reserve and school construction legislation.

Powell told a news conference that the "dangerous" and "shocking" letter from the President, delivered today, had made him more determined to carry on an anti-segregation fight.

The New Yorker, one of three Negroes in the House, said he has definitely decided on an anti-segregation amendment to the pending school bill.

The President wrote, in a letter dated Tuesday, that "progress in ending segregation is difficult if not impossible if we are to depend upon incorporating non-segregation clauses in legislation that the Senate will not favorably consider and hence will never become law."

Argentine Revolt Scars May Remain For Years

By JIMMIE PAYNE
BUENOS AIRES, Argentina, June 23 (AP)—It may take years to erase the physical scars of last Thursday's naval air bombardment, though squads of workers are busily trying to clean up the wreckage.

Pink Government House has save for broken windows, pockmarks left by machine-gunning navy planes and a couple of broken cornices. Inside there are gaping holes in the roof, twisted girders and piles of brick, plaster and smashed furniture.

Freshly laid pavement at three spots outside the building showed where bombs fell and tore big holes in the street.

Most external bomb damage was done to the ministry of the treasury across a side street from Government House. Naval pilots who fled to Uruguay said their aim at the big presidential building was hampered by fog. The treasury shows the result of the bad visibility—boarded windows, chipped marble and broken doors. Repair crews worked to remove much hanging debris.

The navy ministry, which was headquarters for the revolutionaries, is in a zone still barred to the public. Troops with tanks, three field guns and three anti-aircraft guns cut it off from traffic.

The army ministry, where President Peron and army Minister Maj. Gen. Franklin Lueero masterminded the loyal defenders, appears undamaged.

Church properties in downtown Buenos Aires suffered vast damage from fires set by mobs who roamed the city after the revolt had been smashed.

The Episcopal Palace, official residence and office of Santiago Luis Cardinal Copello of the Roman Catholic Church, was burned out. Much debris is being hauled out of it.

The Metropolitan Cathedral next door suffered only minor damage.

Some other big downtown churches like Santo Domingo and the basilica San Francisco show smoke-blackened windows.

Church authorities said irreplaceable records of historic and civic interest dating back to the early 17th century were destroyed in the Episcopal Palace fire.

Command Bill Passed

WASHINGTON, June 23 (AP)—Congress has passed and sent to President Eisenhower a bill to allow Capt. George J. Dufek to command a task force supporting a Navy antarctic expedition due to leave the United States next November.

Capt. Dufek now is commanding the force but is due for retirement June 30. Special legislation was needed to allow him to continue in command status.

Juvenile Vandals Cause Baltimore School Damage

BALTIMORE, June 23 (AP)—Nearly $20,000 worth of property was wrecked by vandals in Baltimore public schools during the first four months of 1955, the Maryland Legislative Council was told today.

Sen. Dempsey (D-Balto 3rd) proposed that the Council, between sessions study group of the Legislature, consider legislation to make parents responsible in such cases.

"I recommend that your honorable body give consideration to enactment of a statute that would make the parents of children who are guilty to acts of vandalism, as distinguished from negligence, responsible for damages," Dempsey wrote the Council.

"To properly handle borderline cases, the responsible public officials may well be given discretion when to invoke the law against parents."

"This law might well be strengthened by permitting at least a partial attachment of the parents' wages or other income in proper cases."

Even before the Council could acknowledge receipt of Dempsey's letter, police reported a new episode of vandalism at an East Baltimore school.

Red ink had been spilled on school records and the records were piled on the floor of the principal's office. More ink was splashed against walls and curtains. A basement door was pried open and small cans of paint were spilled about the place. Some items were looted from the storeroom, but there was no immediate estimate on total damages and loss.

Dempsey's figures on the cost of such incidents came from John H. Fischer, city superintendent of schools. Projected over a nine-month school year, they would total about $45,000.

Broken windows were the biggest single item in the January-April period covered by Fischer's report. It cost $12,151.54 to replace them. That's nearly twice as much as the total loss caused by burglaries and break-ins.

Roommate Held In Man's Death

TOWSON, Md., June 23 (AP)—Baltimore County authorities today continued to question 30-year-old Sherman A. Bosley Jr., charged with murdering Milton C. Humple of Marriotsville, in western Baltimore County.

Bosley appeared at the Randallstown State Police barracks early yesterday to report that the man who shared his apartment had killed himself.

When police arrived, they found Humple sprawled across a bed, a shotgun across his chest and still alive.

He died, however, before an ambulance arrived to take him to the hospital.

Trooper First Class Patrick M. Doonan said there were no powder burns where the charge hit the dead man above the right eye. He said this indicated the gun barrel was not close to Humple's face when he was shot.

Employment Security Dept. Favoritism Hit

BALTIMORE, June 23 (AP)—Morale is at a "low ebb" in the Maryland Department of Employment Security because of favoritism and exertion of influence, Joseph Sherbow reported today.

In his fourth report on the operations of the department and the Employment Security Board (ESB), its administrative arm, Sherbow cited several cases in which he said safeguards against such possibilities "were bypassed."

Sherbow told of a racetrack embezzlement of an investigation he has been conducting at the direction of Gov. McKeldin. The governor called for the probe after a series of newspaper accounts (in the Baltimore Evening Sun) alleged irregularities in the 32-million-dollar-a-year agency's operations.

Two of the three ESB members and the department administrator resigned in the midst of the newspaper series.

Sherbow told of a racetrack employee whose claim for unemployment compensation was turned down by one examiner. Instead of appealing to a referee, as provided by ESB procedure, the employee contacted another examiner who was also a part-time racetrack worker, Sherbow said.

The second examiner then took the case to the chief of benefits, who interceded with the manager of the Baltimore office of the agency, who in turn ordered that the first examiner's report be marked "void" and that the claim be allowed, Sherbow reported.

"In this instance all the safeguards set up for the protection of employee and employer alike were by-passed by this special act of favoritism," he said.

Charles P. Ward, 26, Negro, was killed when his head struck a footstone. His body was found sprawled across the grave.

Uniform Handling Of Juvenile Cases Urged At Bar Meet

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J., June 23 (AP)—Cases of lawbreakers under 18 should be handled by juvenile courts throughout Maryland, the State Bar Assn. was told today.

Calling for uniformity in the handling of cases involving 16 and 17-year-olds, a committee of the association urged prompt action by the Legislature next year to wipe out the present irregular system.

In Baltimore City, defendants in that age group are tried in Youth Court. Some counties follow the federal practice of handling cases involving defendants under 18 as juvenile cases. Others use 16 as the age cut-off.

The proposal for uniform handling throughout Maryland came in a report to the association's 60th annual meeting of the State bar by a committee on juvenile courts and juvenile delinquency.

Start Ordered On Baltimore County Desegregation

TOWSON, Md., June 23 (AP)—The Baltimore County Board of Education today directed the school system staff to make plans for desegregation but implied it could not be carried out in time for the September term.

Passage of the resolution followed a recommendation of Charles Held, assistant county solicitor, who urged "immediate action."

Ernest E. Wooden, president of the school board, said the board is to carry out the integration of white and Negro schools as quickly as possible, allowing for the practical problems involved.

"If we are going to do this job well and in good faith, it cannot be done in just two or three months," Edward G. Stepleton, superintendent of schools, said.

Questioned about his use of the term "immediately," Held said he meant in the sense that the board should go on record that it intends to take steps to comply as quickly as possible.

Wooden assured those present that "everyone here has the full intention of wholeheartedly carrying out the intent of the Supreme Court."

The 3,846 Negro pupils in Baltimore County schools make up about 6.7 per cent of the total enrollment.

India To Nationalize Her Biggest Bank Next Week

NEW DELHI, June 23 (AP)—India will nationalize her biggest bank next week. The move puts the squeeze on thousands of village money lenders, one of this country's oldest and most decadent institutions.

State operation of the bank will bring modern commercial banking for the first time to most of India's 300 million country dwellers.

Rural India has more than half a million villages, and each is said to have at least one money lender. Farmers go to them for money to buy equipment and seeds, or money to pay for the traditionally lavish weddings and ceremonial funerals even the poorest Hindu families believe necessary. Rates of interest range from 10 to 50 per cent a year, usually are about 35 per cent. Surveys show the money lenders often claim a lot more interest by unscrupulously insisting on taking collateral for much higher sums than are actually lent.

The system has left millions of Indian peasants in debt for life. Most of them can hardly keep up the interest payments, let alone pay the principal.

Before the British left this country, several Indian state governments passed laws limiting the interest rates. After independence, a move was started to promote rural cooperatives, subsidized by the government, to provide credit.

High income taxes also hurt money lenders, but they persisted. It became clear that an alternative loan agent in the form of large-scale commercial banking was needed.

The state bank comes into existence July 1 with the nationalization of the old Imperial Bank of India. As India's largest bank with about 400 branches, the Imperial has the framework for countrywide banking. Under legislation it must maintain all these branches and within five years open 400 more.

Can these 800 branches take the place of half a million money lenders? Indian officials say they can. Moreover, they add, the bank will provide rural India facilities it never had before: General commercial banking, savings accounts to allow peasants to set aside cash for future investment, and monetary controls for expansions and contractions of the money supply as needed.

Some financial observers say it would take thousands of branches. Japan, opening soon, will produce not just 800, to cut into the money lenders' trade. And peasants will continue to want money for weddings and funerals; the state bank by law is limited to making loans for "productive purposes."

Jap Plant In Mexico

MEXICO CITY, June 23 (AP)—The new Mexican plant of the Toyota Motor Car Co. of Osaka, Japan, opening soon, will produce textiles and parts for autos, tractors and freight cars.

Firemen Will Bring Water For Battles

EATON, Ohio, June 23 (AP)—The Central Western Ohio Firemen's Assn. has solved the problem of how to stage its water battles when the association holds its annual meeting in this city, which has been plagued for two years by a water shortage. The visiting firemen will bring their own water in tank trucks.

Flier Locates Steer Hard Way

BREMEN, Ind., June 23 (AP)—Robert E. Unsicker, 19, zoomed his plane low over an uncut wheat field recently, helping his cousin, Eldon Roeder, hunt for a missing steer. He found it the hard way. The steer jumped out of the tall wheat and banged its head on one of the plane's wheels. Unsicker crashed into a tree top but escaped with a bump on the forehead. The steer was killed.

Bowles Will Speak At Charlotte, N. C.

CHARLOTTE, N. C., June 23 (AP)—The president of the National Assn. for the Advancement of White People, Bryant Bowles of Milford, Del., plans to speak here June 27 to a group of people interested in retaining racial segregation.

Harry J. Bryant of Charlotte said Bowles was coming in response to a petition containing about 1,500 names. He said the signers are from Asheville, Raleigh and Salisbury, N. C., in addition to Charlotte.

Bowles said he plans to fly to Charlotte from Harrington, Del., Thursday in his own plane. He said he will use a loudspeaker in the plane to publicize the meeting, which he said is scheduled for the fair grounds here.

Bowles said a telegram inviting him here was signed by R. L. Smith, an insurance official, and Arthur W. Bryant, head of a stone firm.

Harry Bryant said the petition is merely a request for Bowles to come here. The people signing it, he said, "want to find out exactly what his organization's aims and ideals are in regard to segregation."

Scientists Say U. S. May Have Cheap A-Bomb

CHICAGO, June 23 (AP)—Chicago area atomic scientists speculated today that the United States has a new, more powerful and cheaper atomic bomb.

Members of the Atomic Scientists of Chicago released a statement to that effect at a luncheon on the University of Chicago campus.

"Scientists have suggested," the statement said, "that the hydrogen bomb detonated in the Pacific in March of 1954 was actually a new device—a hydrogen-uranium bomb yielding thousands of times the radioactivity produced by the atomic bombs tested in Nevada or by simple hydrogen bombs."

The statement added that a speech made at the University of Chicago June 3 by Dr. Willard F. Libby, member of the Atomic Energy Commission, was "the first major speech to give sufficient information supporting this hypothesis."

Libby, on leave from the university's institute for nuclear studies, spoke on "radioactive fallout" at an alumni reunion. Scientists at the luncheon said the speech was highly technical.

The scientists said Libby's speech indicated that "ordinary, cheap uranium" was the major explosive content of the Pacific bomb.

The statement said, "The significance of this is held to be enormous. To physicists it means that Russia or any other country able to make ordinary atomic bombs can with little effort create super weapons of the megaton (million ton) class."

The statement went on to say that Dr. Libby's candid speech has at last provided us with authoritative information from which two important conclusions can be drawn.

"First, the United States population is in little danger from the testing of small atomic bombs in Nevada. Second, if nuclear warfare were to break out, fallout would be a serious and persistent threat to the health of most of us. 'This is because the danger of

IN THE DAYS OF DAVY CROCKETT

The Mexicans took their soldiers out of Anahuac. Then they brought them back again. When Travis, who had moved to the town of San Felipe, heard this he organized a small force of patriots, marched to Anahuac and made the Mexicans surrender their guns.

Some folks today say that's when the Texas war of independence began. Don't rightly know but, anyway, the shooting started and Buck Travis, who thought there'd never be another war, found himself fighting and helping win battles as a major of artillery!

Not long after Travis had been transferred to the cavalry as a lieutenant-colonel, he was ordered to reinforce the troops in the Alamo. Soon after he got there who should ride into the fort but his boyhood hero—Davy Crockett! Guess Buck could hardly believe his eyes!

With Colonel Jim Bowie laid low by injury and sickness, Colonel Travis had to take command. A huge Mexican army lay outside the gates of the Alamo, demanding surrender. Travis, Bowie and Crockett talked things over and then decided never to give up!

NEXT—Buck Travis commands at the last stand at the Alamo.

allout from the Nevada tests, while small, is not so small that it can safely be multiplied one thousand fold."

In his talk, the scientists said, Libby related that about two pounds of radioactive debris made up of around 90 different substances are generated in the explosion of conventional atomic bombs with energy of about 20,000 tons of TNT.

By comparison, they quoted Libby, a nuclear explosion releasing 10 megatons (10 million tons) of power, could create 1,000 pounds of dangerously radioactive material.

Do you step out of your car in a charming manner?

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

In this nation on wheels caught in the "racy" spirit of the sports-car trend, fashion is really on the go. The interest in American and foreign sportscars has grown by leaps and bounds. Women have taken to the open road in clothes that are especially suitable and put them in the best-dressed outdoor list.

Complete and colorful outfits and accessories have been made so women can match their cars. Snug scarfs and hoods to keep the hair from blowing; large handbags called "car totes," umbrellas; jewelry; slim, tapered trousers; short jackets for easy sliding in and out of cars, scarves with various car and signal motifs are in the line-up. There's no limit to the fashions this sports-car age inspires.

But, with all this perfection and fuss, one important factor may have been overlooked. How many women have given any thought to how they look getting in and out of a low-slung car? To achieve grace and ease on leaving a car, slide over to the end of the seat. Reach out sideways with the foot nearest the door until it touches the ground. Then give a little push with the foot that remains in the car and use the momentum gathered to lift your body up and out of the car in sidewise position (this has to be done with a confident grace that only practice can make perfect). You let your head and shoulders lead... trusting the hips to follow. Last, but not least... bring the feet together on the ground and do a quick, graceful right-about-face. You're grounded... and charmingly!

Pantry Shelf Juices

Always popular at the breakfast table, today's canned fruit juices are also on call whenever folks are thirsty. No phase of the food preserving industry has expanded so rapidly as have canned juices.

In a recent nation-wide study, 93% of our city-dweller American housewives reported serving some kind of juice at home. Accounting for nearly half of the total servings recorded were canned single-strength juices.

In vitamin content, canned fruit juices are on par with fresh fruit juices—because the fruits used are orchard-ripened, picked and processed at the very peak of quality. A daily serving, so vital to good health, offers an excellent supply of Vitamins A and C, along with other important nutrients. Easily digestible, the fruit sugars furnish quick food energy for everyone.

Variety, too, is abundant with canned juices. Orange, grapefruit, blended orange-grapefruit and pineapple are old-time favorites. With the appearance of flavorful nectars about 1936, an even greater assortment became available. Nectars, such as apricot, peach and pear, are the whole ripe fruits reduced to beverage form. Seeds, skins and tough fibers have been removed, and only pure cane sugar added.

All juices store easily on pantry shelves, cool quickly in the refrigerator—and can be poured right from the can. For flavor and vitamin retention, leftover juices should be covered and refrigerated. It's safe to store them right in the can.

Besides offering a refreshing drink, canned juices have a multitude of uses. Their piquant flavor adds zest to salads, meats, vegetables, sauces and refrigerator dishes.

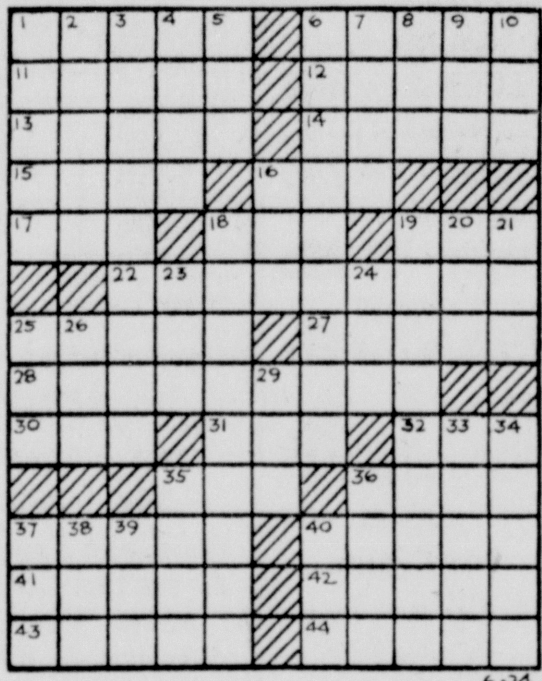

Canned juices are available in a wide range of sizes—5½ oz., 6 oz., 7 oz., 7½ oz., 12 oz., 18 oz., 46 oz., and 96 oz. cans—the latter two being the large economy sizes.

Pantry shelf juices, never out of season, are a boon to the busy housewife. They're already to use. Use them often for breakfast, lunch, dinner and between-meal snacks.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Dorothy Manners
(Substituting for vacationing Louella Parsons)

HOLLYWOOD, June 23 (INS)—Everything seems to be coming Robert Taylor's way. A happy man over the arrival of a son last week, he's just learned that, finally, MGM has a modern story for him. Bob is set for Irwin Shaw's "32nd Day," the story of a pilot flying the run between France and North Africa in which, Bob says, "I don't have to run around in a clanking suit of armor or in buckskin and coonskin hats. I've been waiting for this day!" Edwin Knopf is the producer.

But before this happy time, Bob dons buckskin again for "The Last Hunt" (about buffalo hunts in the old west), and he has the London-filmed "Quentin Durward," in which he "clanks," almost ready for previewing.

Tyrone Power's new heart, Mary Roblee, has joined him in London—and who knows? When he returns to Hollywood July 10, the attractive Miss Roblee may be with him. She's a fashion magazine writer who met Ty when she interviewed him on "The Long Gray Line" in New York, and they continued dating all through his run of "The Light Is Dark Enough" on Broadway.

Ty and the children and their nurse are due in New York July 3 and a week later he'll be in Hollywood for "The Eddy Duchin Story."

Dick Haymes opened big at the Dunes in Las Vegas in more ways than one. To the tune of $15,000 per week, Dick sang his heart out (he's always been a singer's singer) and brought down the house.

He was on the verge of breaking down when he told the packed-in audience, "I'm very—grateful."

Turning to a beautiful, redheaded charmer sitting ringside blowing kisses to him, he said, "May I introduce Mrs. Haymes?" and Rita took a bow.

Hollywood in shorts: Paul Douglas, making "Joe MacBeth" in London, ran into Orson Welles who asked him what he was doing over there. "Salvaging MacBeth," said Paul, and Welles didn't think it was funny at all, at all.

Pat O'Brien's son, Sean, is at Sheppard's Field Air Force Training Base, in Texas. Noel Coward tells Jeanette MacDonald that he will be in Dallas for her opening in one of his most popular plays, "Bittersweet."

Instead of a movie star, Warners is sending out Dimitri Tiomkin on tour with "Land of the Pharaohs" to take bows on his fine score.

Marty Hall has joined Ruth Roman in Paris and they're behaving like second honeymooners. Jack Dempsey will be here for sure when his daughter, Joan's, baby arrives early in August. That's all today.

Frozen Food Tips

(Q.) HOW much fresh food should be put into a freezer to be frozen?

(A.) It is important to plan to put no more unfrozen food into a freezer than will freeze within 24 hours. Usually this will be about 2 or 3 pounds of food to a cubic foot of capacity. Overloading slows down the rate of freezing, and foods that freeze too slowly may lose quality or spoil.

Refrigerator Spice Cookies

$\frac{1}{2}$ cup lard
 $\frac{1}{2}$ cup firmly packed brown sugar
 $\frac{1}{2}$ cup white sugar
 1 egg
 1 teaspoon vanilla
 2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
 1 teaspoon baking powder
 1 teaspoon cinnamon
 $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon cloves
 $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon ginger

Cream lard and sugars together until light and fluffy. Blend in egg and vanilla. Sift together remaining ingredients and gradually blend into first mixture. Mix well. Divide mixture into 2 parts and place each on waxed paper. Shape into rolls about $1\frac{1}{2}$ inches in diameter and wrap in waxed paper. Chill several hours or longer and cut into slices about $\frac{1}{4}$ inch thick. Bake on ungreased cookie sheet at 425° F., 5 to 7 minutes. Cool on wire cake rack. Makes about 5 dozen cookies.

It's All In The Way You Cook Pork Chops

There's no dispute about the goodness and popularity of pork chops. They're right up at the top of America's meat favorites!

There is dispute, however, about the right way to cook pork chops. There are those who talk about broiling, frying and grilling pork chops. Authorities on meat cookery frown on these methods of cooking pork chops and advise that the most satisfactory way to cook them is by braising.

The reason for this is that dry heat cookery — broiling, frying, etc. — tends to dry out small cuts of pork before they are thoroughly cooked (and thorough cooking of all pork products is important).

Braising Not A Mystery

There's nothing mysterious about the term braising — although it seems to confuse many people. It's a handy term to describe the method of cooking in which the meat is browned and then cooked slowly in a small amount of liquid in a tightly covered utensil. The amount of liquid may vary from the few tablespoons necessary to cook pork chops, to the generous topping of canned tomatoes often used in preparing Swiss steak.

Pork chops are delicious when braised; they're tender and juicy, with the meat almost falling off the bone. For those who like a crisp exterior, the cover of the skillet may be removed during the last part of the cooking time to crisp the meat somewhat.

Another successful thing about braising pork chops is that when seasonings are added, the flavors cook right into the meat during the steaming process. Hence, spices and herbs added do their seasoning job well.

Pork responds favorably to a wide range of seasonings. Here's a list of interesting suggestions:

1. Sprinkle browned chops with marjoram, sage, curry, chili powder or thyme before adding liquid. Top each chop with a slice of onion.

2. Spread browned chops with thin barbecue sauce; add a little water to the bottom of the skillet to prevent sticking.

3. Place apple slices on top of the browned chops and sprinkle with brown sugar and some ground cloves. Add water.

4. Rub chops with cut clove of garlic before browning; spoon a little soy sauce over them after they are browned. Add water.

5. Cook chops in commercial sour cream thinned with a little water; top chops with sliced green onions including tops.

6. Braise chops in fruit juice (orange or pineapple) or in tomato juice.

Here's a really fancy way to dress up pork chops for a gala meal; they're cooked with orange sections and raisins.

Orange Raisin Pork Chops

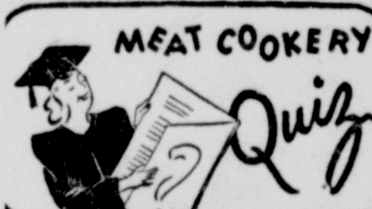

4 pork chops
 2 medium oranges
 $\frac{1}{4}$ cup sugar
 1 tablespoon cornstarch
 $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon allspice
 $1\frac{1}{4}$ cups hot water
 2 tablespoons lemon juice
 $\frac{1}{4}$ cup orange juice
 $\frac{1}{4}$ cup raisins

Flour chops, brown, and sprinkle with salt. Remove orange rind with sharp knife; free orange sections from membrane and lay two sections on each chop. Make sauce as follows: mix together sugar, cornstarch and allspice. Gradually stir in hot water and cook until thick.

Add lemon juice, orange juice and raisins. Pour sauce over chops and cook over low heat for an hour. Serve topped with sauce. 4 servings.

Formosa's population of 8,500,000 almost matches that of Australia, a continent more than 200 times as large. Two hundred forty miles long, and 85 miles wide, the island has about the same area as The Netherlands.

Diving on prey, a duck hawk often travels 180 miles an hour.

Q. What is the name of this cut of meat?

A. Beef round steak.

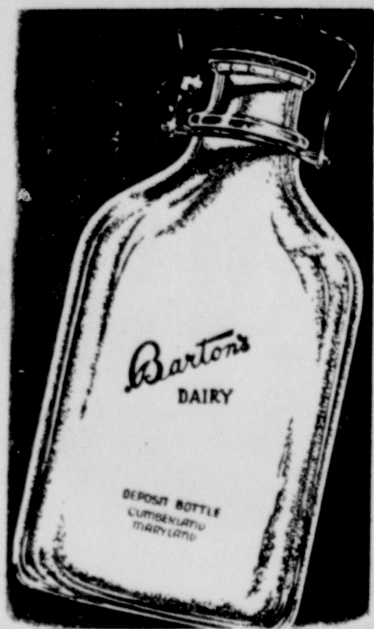

Q. Where does it come from and how is it identified?

A. It is from the beef hind quarter, from the section called the round. It is round or oval in shape with a small round bone. It has one large muscle and three small ones.

Q. How is it prepared?

A. By braising. It is dredged in seasoned flour, then browned on both sides in a small amount of lard or drippings. A small amount of liquid is added, the utensil is covered tightly and the meat is cooked slowly until it is tender.

Collins To Be Charged With Manslaughter

The State's Attorney's office yesterday said Troy Willis Collins, of Rawlings, will be charged with manslaughter by motor vehicle as the result of a double fatal accident early Sunday.

Held in Allegany County Jail, Collins will be given a preliminary hearing in Trial Magistrate's Court.

Also announced was the release of Kelly Pennington, Rawlings, a passenger in Collins' auto which crashed near Dawson. Two companions, Carl E. Critchfield, 34, of Chevy Chase, and Ernest VanPelt, 18, RD 2, Keyser, died of injuries.

Authorities said Collins had stated that Critchfield was operating the car when the mishap occurred. The vehicle careened from the road, struck an embankment and landed on Critchfield.

However, other witnesses reported Collins was driving.

Still in Potomac Valley Hospital at Keyser is David Moreland, 18, of Rawlings, who suffered a skull fracture in the accident. He was questioned briefly by County Investigator Edwin R. Lilya, but no statement was taken. His condition is "fair."

State Police investigators said the lights on Collins' car reportedly went out before the crash.

Kiwanis Hears Talk On Fires

Robert C. Byrus, director of Fire Service Extension of the University of Maryland, told the Cumberland Kiwanis Club yesterday at a luncheon meeting that business men should be conscious of fire safety.

They should be interested in programs to prevent fires from occurring in their homes or business places, he added.

He cited national statistics to show that when business places are burned out, 43 per cent of them never reopen.

An additional 27 per cent are not open at the end of three years. This means, he declared, that seven out of ten firms hit by fire won't be in business three years later.

He explained to the Kiwanians the purpose of the Maryland State Firemen's Association, which he is attending as a guest. He urged the members to cooperate with their volunteer firemen's associations and companies, and their city fire departments in a program of fire prevention.

"Fires don't happen, they are caused," he declared.

Fishing Rodeo To Be June 28

A fishing rodeo for boys and girls under 15 years of age will be held June 28 at the Community Fishing Ponds on the Malampy Farm, Christie Road, as part of the dedication ceremony for the new facilities.

The event will start at 2 p. m. and continue until 4:30 p. m. with prizes for the largest fish, first fish caught and the first five fish caught. Prizes will be given to both boys and girls in the categories listed.

Contestants will furnish their own tackle and bait. Only worms will be used except for artificial lures which will be allowed on the levee of Pond No. 3. All boys and girls over 14 years of age must have fishing licenses.

Children may not have assistance from parents or friends except for advice. Children under five years of age may be assisted with tackle and bait but none in landing a hooked fish.

The parking area on the Malampy farm will be open for motorists who attend the rodeo.

Four Tri-State Men Enlist In US Navy

Va., who graduated from Keyser High School; Vance Gerald Shaffer, 18, RFD 3, Bedford Valley, Pa., who graduated from Bedford High School; and Joseph Edward Corbin, 17, Romney, W. Evening Blessing A Part Of June

When a hot, rushing, summer day is done and gray-purple shadows are closing in, earth seems to relax. Gone is the brassy, burning brilliance of daylight hours; gone the sense of urgency that makes a man rush his haying. As flaming sunset colors drain from the sky, as nighthawks' hollow booms reverberate and chimney swifts twitter as they settle for the night, there is peace and shadowed beauty over the summer countryside.

Fireflies dance their intricate ballet over the lawn; a whippoorwill cries from field's edge and a robin sounds his last sleepy call from the orchard.

A night in late June when the breeze has freshened at sunset and earth begins to radiate its heat and form dew on the grass, is an appreciated blessing after a hard day's work. While crickets chant below the porch and drowsy noises scratch softly against night's darkening curtain, a man can harvest something in his heart more important than the crop he gathered during the pressing heat of midday.

A June evening has certain qualities that distinguish it from the evenings of other months. There are sounds that tell one this is the maturing time of year. After the solstice, it almost seems as if earth pauses for a period while its forces consolidate for the final push toward summer's conclusion. But in the blessing of a cool evening, man knows that the Great Plan is going irresistibly forward. Life is a never-ceasing series of profound rhythms that ordain the continuity of life and the assurance of harvest.

He who glimpses something of the purpose of the experience we call life, knows that the blessings of a June evening is an integral part of the anciently-ordained system that governs our flowering world.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

Dr. Nathan Speaks

In a letter to The New York Times, Dr. Otto Nathan, who quarrelled with the State Department over his passport and got it through the courts, states categorically: "The right of a citizen to travel cannot be restricted."

In this letter, Dr. Nathan reduces the passport functions of the State Department to a mere registry. He says:

"My legal advisers argued that the State Department only has discretion in purely administrative matters such as the size of the passport photo, but does not enjoy any discretion in substantive matters and that it is unconstitutional to apply political standards to passport applications, as the State Department does . . ."

If this is correct, Congress should clearly define the nature of a passport, who is entitled to it, who is to determine to which countries an American may travel, and by what method a passport may be lifted if its possessor becomes a problem to this country.

The passport is a statement by the United States that the bearer is a citizen in good standing, that American officials abroad are required to protect him by whatever means they possess, that in the event of war or revolution, the American government will employ such methods as it may devise to safeguard him.

In 1918, because I bore an American passport, I was put on a train at Petrograd with other Americans and permitted to leave Russia. Between 1919-1931, I lived in China under extra-territoriality, protected from bandits and other marauders who were then extant in that country. In 1919, during the Students Movement, I was called to the American consulate in Shanghai and notified that my passport might be lifted if I actively partook in a revolution against the recognized government of China. In 1919, a group of Koreans wanted me to go to Paris to represent them at the peace conference. I could not get permission at the time. In 1923, in Tokyo, during the frightful earthquake, my wife and I were rescued by the American government after we had slept on the street for five nights. The State Department, Army and Navy cooperated in looking after Americans in distress. Some had inadequate funds and they were aided.

It is absurd to suggest that an American is free to go where he pleases in a disturbed world and to do whatever he pleases and then to have the privilege of calling upon the American government for aid if he gets into trouble.

Dr. Otto Nathan is a refugee who has prospered here. In the United States, he has taught economics and has lectured before organizations. In the judgment of the State Department, it is not to the best interests of the United States that he should travel in Europe. They say that they have satisfactory data to uphold their view but this data they cannot make public.

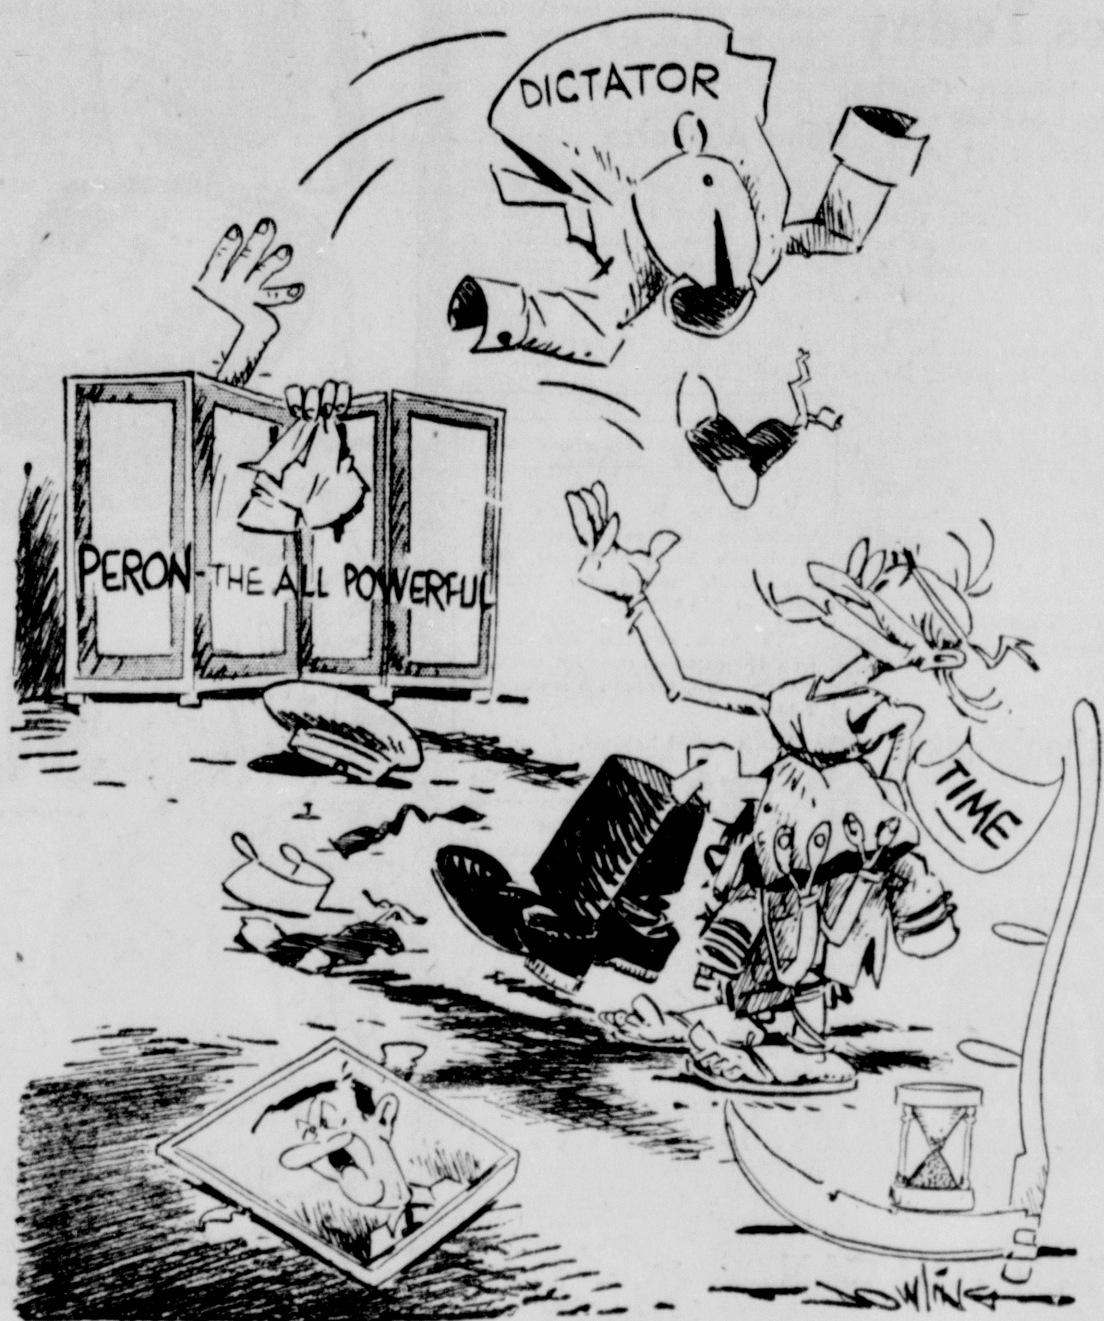

They may be altogether wrong about Dr. Nathan or anybody else. But someone has to decide to whom a passport should be given and from whom it should be withheld. Such a decision is the right of any country. The agency constituted to make such a decision ought to have its rights from specific laws. Dr. Nathan's lawyers say that there are no such laws, except the McCarran Internal Security Act, the constitutionality of which is being challenged. If these lawyers are correct, Congress ought to pass a law forthwith.

There seems to be a blind area in our laws in which administrative judgment rather than the acts of Congress prevail. In Great Britain such areas are regarded as essential to the correct functioning of government. For instance, they do not have a single law on their statute books concerning the vast process of banking. That area is left to the judgment of the chancellor of the exchequer, and even more to the governor of the Bank of England. This method works very well.

Perhaps it is a matter of temperament, we needing laws to keep us in restraint. Franklin D. Roosevelt employed the device of the executive order probably more, and more effectively, than any predecessor; for this he was criticized by his opponents. It is clear, however, that it is practically impossible to run to Congress for a law covering each piecemeal detail of administration. In these days of complex living, such a process would end in paralysis of both Congress and the administration.

"I've Been Intending To Stop By Here!"

Molotov's Brazen Speech Ignores Red Misdeeds

By David Lawrence

SAN FRANCISCO—Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov must have been laughing up his sleeve as he played his grim joke on the United Nations assembly here with a speech which, for deliberate disregard of what the Communists have been doing in the last 10 years, has few parallels in brazenness and effrontery.

With an air of innocence that seems incredible, Molotov solemnly told the delegates that the military bases being constructed by the Western powers in Europe have "nothing to do with defense" and that this "can be deduced from the mere fact that they are to be found thousands of miles away from the countries constructing them."

Has Molotov never heard of the jet plane and the speed with which modern bombers travel nowadays? Does he really think anybody will believe his bland statement that, because the United States is helping to defend Western Europe, it is thereby planning to "attack" Soviet Russia? He speaks of military alliances being made in smaller countries in the Near and Middle East "against the will of their peoples" as if Soviet Russia ever really cared about the "will of the people" anywhere in its orbit.

Considers NATO Aggressive

Thus, the Soviet foreign minister considers NATO and all the other "military groupings" not to be defensive at all but to be of an "aggressive character"—which, he says, is "well known." In fact, he says that if the "propaganda for a new war" and the "armaments race" should be intensified and if the "building of military bases designed not for defense but to attack other countries" should continue, then "international tensions would increase still more."

All through his speech Molotov implies that the United States and its allies would be the "attacker" in another war, and he plaintively cries out that the "people throughout the world do not want another war."

Mr. Molotov must have chuckled to himself often as he frequently used the phrase "peace-loving countries." Even the war in Korea, he says, was "terminated on the initiative of the peace-loving countries" and all that remains is to unite Korea. Presumably this would be done under a puppet government, which he thinks will establish "national unity in accordance with the will of the Korean people."

But Molotov has a convenient lack of memory. Only a year or so ago, he and the Chinese Reds at the Geneva conference were, in public speeches, refusing to accept United Nations auspices as a means of unifying Korea through free elections. The Soviet leader knows that many of his listeners have short memories, too, and that words uttered today are often mistakenly given a meaning without the background of yesterday.

Ignored Reports of Tyranny

Molotov had the nerve to refer to the Indochina fiasco at Geneva last year as a great success, because the settlement "conforms to the aspirations for national liberation of the peoples living in that part of the world." But he ignored the daily news dispatches from North Viet Nam, where Communist colonialism has imposed a new tyranny.

Even Yugoslavian relations with Soviet Russia came in for the sugra-coated treatment by Molotov, though here he found it necessary to denounce the "groundless inventions circulated in the West to distort the meaning and belittle the significance of the Belgrade talks and of their results."

Nothing is omitted in Molotov's review to make up a picture of a peace-loving Communist partnership in Moscow and Peking. Glowing praise is given Mr. Nehru's visit to Moscow, and emphasis is placed on the Soviet plan to "normalize" relations with Germany and Japan.

The Soviet foreign minister even dares to say that "all the United Nations" have recognized the principle of the "enjoyment of human rights and fundamental freedoms for all, irrespective of race, sex, language or religion," but maybe the word "recognized" is a free translation from the original Russian, as Molotov probably meant

Baering Down On The News

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

Hatch Act of 1930 just incubated an election egg of prosperous dimensions. Congress figures to okay more pocket money for the saddlebags of national campaigns.

Way back in 1925 the corrupt practices plaster limited candidatorial shopping loot to three million dollars. That's all you could spend on singing lessons for the voice of the people.

Now, they want to jack the testimonial plunder up to 12 million, give or take a vote or two.

Even the loser should show a profit on that.

We know that the three million tops was circumnavigated by the deployment of subsidiary posers, volunteer cellar clubs, roving committees and suburban car-benders. A presidential campaign has no consolation prize.

Both the Democrats and the Republicans are favoring the boost in guaranteed emoluments of wagon-tail campaigning. Any one contributor can donate 10 grand in 1956. In 1952 a door-to-door collector would stop ringing your bell for five. Even the price of reform has gone up.

Poor Health Often Used As Way Out Of Problems

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Everyone knows a hypochondriac who is always complaining about his health. This poor fellow is made the brunt of many jokes, including the oldie about the physician and his son. The young man had just been graduated from medical school and was taking over while his dad enjoyed his first vacation in years.

When the old gent returned several months later, he asked how

Mrs. Jones was doing and his son said she was cured.

"Son, you did not know this but she is the one who sent you through medical school."

But in real life hypochondriacs are not always easy to cure. Nevertheless, some psychiatrists are able to restore 85 per cent of their patients to health. Successful treatment requires expert care because, with mismanagement, the sufferer's complaints are likely to become permanent.

It is normal to be reasonably concerned about health and to be disturbed during illness. The hypochondriac goes a step further. He worries out of all proportion to his physical condition. A slight increase in pulse rate is a sure sign that his heart is or the blink and a little indigestion or cramping of the colon must be cancer.

The more he thinks about it, the worse he feels and can hardly wait until the doctor arrives. As a rule, his symptoms are not imaginary. They are genuine but insignificant and represent only minor deviations from normal bodily sensations. Moreover, symptoms tend to move about from one organ to another.

By going behind the scenes, the psychiatrist frequently finds that the patient uses hypochondriasis as a convenient and practical means of solving his problems. Illness is a recognized excuse for not doing one's best. It also is used to compensate for social failure or poor grades in school.

By acquiring such a handicap as pain, dizziness, bizarre sensations, constipation, or worry, the individual is able to excuse himself for not doing "a job well done." In other instances, the condition stems from a previous illness at which rocky road of love as he did about acting, remarked ruefully, "Experience is what you have left after you have completely forgotten her name."

Secretary Hobby Holds Resignation As GOP National Committee Fidgets

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — Now that the GOP National Committee has agreed the skids for Secretary of Health Oveta Culp Hobby and even picked her successor, it can't get the obstinate lady to resign.

Her patient replacement, Marion Folsom, is waiting like a gentleman for her to make the first move. But she won't budge.

Though she originally threatened to resign over the Salk mix-up, she has exercised her feminine prerogative to change her mind and now seems determined to see the Salk battle through to the end.

Mrs. Hobby first spoke to the White House about resigning before the polio problem hit the headlines. She gave her husband's ill health as her excuse. Then she suddenly found herself in the middle of the Salk whirl.

After a presidential scolding for her handling of the problem, she burned to a crisp and threatened to go back to Texas. Her advisers warned, however, that it would look bad for her to resign under fire. So she stuck to her desk. But every time she opened her mouth, the politicians at GOP headquarters winced.

"She blandly belittled the Salk problem when the papers were reporting children dying from bad vaccine," complained one top Republican. "Now she associates those who are against socialized medicine with the whole Salk mess. Before you know it, she'll have people believing maybe socialized medicine is a good thing."

Cheese Scandal

Meanwhile, she is brushing off the polite suggestions from Republican headquarters that she ought to resign right away for her husband's sake.

ly sold 5,275,116 pounds of cheese to the government, then bought it back for more than $150,000 profit.

Ripe Profits

Borden and Kraft executives were also consulted in advance about the cheese subsidy program. Afterward, investigators report, these two cheese giants together made over a million dollars on one transaction.

For example, Kraft Foods sold 29,164,860 pounds of cheese to the government in March 1954, then immediately contracted to buy it at 37 cents per pound. In April about 90 million pounds of this cheese was resold to the original manufacturers at 34 1/4 cents a pound. Thus the loss to the government on the purchase resale transaction was apparently $2.5 million.

In other words, the cheese producers bought their own cheese back from the government and made nearly three cents per pound profit on the deal within a month. What's even more shocking, the cheese never so much as left the producers' warehouses. The whole transaction was carried out on paper, and the manufacturers collected their profit without moving a pound of cheese.

Like most other farm policies, the cheese program was adopted with a minimum of advice from farmers but after careful consultation with the cheese industry. In other words, this plan to enrich the cheese manufacturers came largely from the manufacturers. One of those consulted, for example, was Carl Berst, whose big Wisconsin cheese company promptly

Peace And Athletes

By Stewart Alsop

MOSCOW — "I hope," said the first English-speaking Russian encountered by this reporter, "that you will write the truth about my country." The same suspicious hope that has been repeatedly expressed since, Alas, after fully four days in Russia, this reporter still does not know the truth about this strange country.

Instead of telling the truth about Russia, it may be worth describing a couple of incidents which occurred on my first day in Moscow. The incidents had no importance at all but they stuck in the mind like burrs, and they may have, at least, the simple, photographic value first impressions sometimes have.

The first episode was really hardly anything at all. After wandering vaguely around what I wrongly thought to be Red Square, I had gone down a side street, when suddenly it started to rain. I took shelter under a wooden awning. There were already a few Russians under the awning, and very soon we were packed shoulder to shoulder.

Conspicuous Reporter

Our little crowd was cheerful enough. There was an old Russian peasant woman in a shawl, looking so much like an old Russian peasant woman in a shawl that I had to pinch myself to believe she was true. There were two or three soldiers, in the dash of Russian uniform, one a very handsome fellow who was holding hands with a dumpty girl with whom he was obviously very much in love. There were several civilians, dressed in dark suits with square shoulders and sailorlike trousers.

This reporter, in a light tan garb, could hardly have been more conspicuous if attired in a ballet costume. There was no uncultured staring by the Russians, but there were a good many nudges and side glances at the peculiar animal from the other side of the moon.

Then somebody addressed a polite, incomprehensible question to me. I shook my head and said "Americanski." There were murmurings in the crowd. A man in a dark suit said "peace," and smiled and I said "peace" and smiled too. Then we all smiled and nodded our heads reassuringly at each other and then the rain stopped and we all went our ways.

The great Russian scientist Pavlov would do doubt have explained this episode in terms of the conditioned reflex, and certainly it does not encompass the truth about Russia. Nor did the second incident.

Popular Sport

That same evening I crashed a reception given by the Section of Heavy Athletics of the Committee of Sport and Physical Culture of the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics in honor of a team of American weight lifters. The most conspicuous American weight lifter was a prophet without honor in his own country — Paul Anderson, of Georgia, an amiable Gargantua, whose arms are so enormous that he carries them at a sharp angle from his vast chest.

In the United States, weight lifting is largely concentrated in the area of York, Pa. In the Soviet Union, weight lifting is highly popular, and the competition had drawn standing-room-only crowds. The Russians had won, but Mr. Anderson had saved the national face by breaking all known records.

The section of Heavy Athletics of the Committee of Sport and Physical Culture put on quite a show. There was a singer, who looked at though she could have lifted a few weights herself (she was actually very good, according to a competent judge of such matters) and a slight-of-hand artist, and a wonderful Uzbekistan peoples dancer and an enthusiastic male vocalist. The big-muscled weight lifters listened politely, although one had a feeling that the Americans, at least, might have preferred Marilyn Monroe. But the really memorable moment was the conversation between the Russians and American weight lifters.

Except for their muscles, they might have been different species, the Russians in their square-shouldered suits, the Americans tough, casual and oddly innocent in their sports shirts and openwork shoes. At first, they seemed shy of each other. Then, through random interpreters, they began to talk about weight lifting and suddenly they were all weight lifters together.

Social Systems Differ
A small attentive group of weight lifters gravitated to Mr. Anderson, the man who had lifted a greater weight than any weight lifter had ever lifted before. The talk was professional, and a little hard to follow. Asked by a Russian about a well-known American lifter, Mr. Anderson remarked sadly that he was still pretty good but that he had lost his speed.

When this was translated, there was on every face a hint of that ancient tragedy—the tragedy of the passage of time and the loss of speed it brings to all men. For that moment, it seemed, all the weight lifters together were of the same race of men.

After the concert, a high official of the Section of Heavy Athletics recited a somewhat lengthy address, with emphasis on the comradeship of peoples, and then there was a buffet of vodka and caviar.

But the golden moment was never recaptured. Walking afterward in Red Square (the right one, this time) it was tempting to believe that peace was assured because everybody under a wooden awning wanted peace or because weight lifters share a common humanity and a common interest in weight lifting. But alas, there are also such dreary matters as the world balance of power and the frightening difference between social systems. This difference is nowhere more obvious than here.

A Virginia inventor plans to test a new octagon-shaped airplane which has no wings but six fins. Sounds like it might be extra special for flying in very wet weather.

That flower pot thief who carefully replanted the blossoms elsewhere before making off with the pots wasn't very complimentary to the gardener.

At the annual Michigan music festival 1,200 musicians took turns playing 204 pianos and 52 organs. There were also 250 accordions. The news item didn't say what the neighbors thought.

Gunman To Be Arraigned Today

One of two men who allegedly shot at 10 cars on U. S. Route 40 near Gorley's Lake Sunday night said he would plead not guilty when he is arraigned today before Justice of the Peace Victor Holt in Wharton Township, Pa.

William W. Jackson, 59, a Denver, Colo., truck driver, is being held in solitary confinement. He was quoted by Uniontown police officers as saying he had been told by sheriffs across the country to mark with bullets vehicles that forced him off the highway.

Jackson and Samuel P. Johnson, 39, Houston, Texas, who said he was a hitch-hiker who joined Jackson at Columbus, Ohio, were taken into custody a short time after the shooting.

Slightly injured when their cars were struck by bullets were Lyman "Bill" Zeller, city, and Paul Kiddy, Frostburg. Both were injured by flying glass. Zeller later discovered he had a .22 calibre slug in his forehead under the skin, but the bullet apparently has done no serious damage.

addition to the twin grinding process, will have important features not now in any plate glass plant in the world.

Ground was broken last September 16 by Higgins in a civic ceremony attended by other company officials and city, state and federal representatives.

Since the ground breaking ceremony, about 600,000 cubic yards of earth have been removed to accomplish required preliminary grading.

About two miles of railroad siding has been constructed to date to provide rail facilities for the big plant, and required storm and sanitary sewer systems have been completed.

The huge new plant, located about five miles southeast of Cumberland, will be served by an access road off Route 51 and will have rail service by the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad and the Western Maryland Railway.

The nation's first successful producer of plate glass, Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company has been manufacturing that product since 1883.

Other large plate glass producing plants are operated by the firm at Ford City and Creighton, Pa., and at Crystal City, Mo.

The Cumberland plant will be the first complete plate glass plant to be built by the firm from the ground up, and the cost of the big unit represents the biggest single expenditure in the history of the company.

Mayor Roy W. Eves was informed by the company yesterday afternoon that work on the plant is expected to get underway by July 10.

The City of Cumberland is expediting plans to lay a water line to the plant for sanitary and emergency protection purposes, and early this spring began construction of a $2,000,000 sewage treatment plant which will provide the company with clean water for manufacturing purposes.

Old Railroad Bridge Termed Flood Hazard

Town Councils Take Concerted Action

WESTERNPORT—The mayor and town council of Westernport, at a meeting Wednesday night, joined with the mayor and town council of Piedmont in an effort to have a flood hazard removed from the Potomac River.

Letters were ordered sent to Abe Feldstein, Cumberland junk dealer, to the Maryland State Roads Commission, and the Western Maryland Railway Company, advising of the hazard.

What officials and citizens of the twin communities term a hazard is an abandoned C&P Railroad bridge, one of which has dropped down into the river on the Piedmont side. It is feared, officials point out, that in time of high water trees or other debris could dam up against the bridge and thus cause an inundation of both communities.

Mayor Okey E. Michael of Westernport noted that the Western Maryland Railway Company, which absorbed the C&P, had abandoned the track and bridge in the area. The bridge, a large steel structure, was sold to Feldstein, who agreed to remove it.

This bridge was built in 1924 after flood waters washed out the original structure. The bridge it replaced lodged against the old interstate bridge at the time, and flood water also took the larger span out.

At Westernport's meeting of the mayor and town commissioners this week it was also ordered to

This property is to be used as part of a site for the town's new filtration plant. The town had offered the Clarks $1,000 for it, but in condemnation proceedings a jury awarded the owners $1,650.

A plan for the installation of 26 parking meters on the town's new proposed parking lot adjoining the Western Maryland Railway tracks at Church Street was approved.

Md. VFW Opens Encampment

OCEAN CITY, Md., June 23 (AP)—The first of a host of delegates from 120 Maryland Veterans of Foreign Wars posts arrived here today for the annual encampment.

State Commander Earl Griffin predicted more than 2,000 delegates and guests would be on hand before the four-day convention ends.

Meeting along with the VFW are the Ladies Auxiliary and the Military Order of the Cootie, commanded by William Diffenderfer of Havre de Grace.

Registration began today. Tomorrow night the vets stage their annual boardwalk parade and on Saturday night they will hear an address from Rep. Van Zandt (R-Pa.), twice national commander in chief of the VFW.

Van Zandt will speak at the annual banquet which will be followed by a dance. Among guests present is Mrs. Mary Sexton, house mother of the Maryland Cottage at the national VFW home for children in Eaton Rapids, Mich.

She brought four of the cottage children with her.

Playground Doll Show Rescheduled Tonight

Pine Avenue Playground's doll show, cancelled last night during intermittent showers, has been rescheduled today at 7:30 p. m., weather permitting.

Prizes will be given for the largest, smallest, funniest, prettiest, most unusual, and "most cuddle-some" dolls.

Following the doll show a dance will be held.

Bowling Green

Defeated was No. 2, which would have increased the membership of the historical and archives committee from five to 23 members.

Approved was No. 3, submitted by the Frostburg Fire Department, which calls upon the president to invite the governor to each convention.

The association adopted resolutions of sorrow for members who have died since the last convention and thanked the Allegany-Garrett Volunteer Firemen's Association and the City of Cumberland for hospitality extended during the meeting here.

James S. Getty, chairman of the Republican State Central Committee, read an address prepared for presentation by Governor McKelvin, who was forced to return to Baltimore after officiating at Governor's Day at Fairgo.

Getty reported the governor "won $50 before he took off" to fulfill a long-standing appointment.

The governor had said the state's investment in the volunteer fire associations and the Fire Service Extension—the latter up $52,000—has been an excellent investment for the protection of the people and their properties.

"It is little enough that we are doing," he said, "for organizations that stand ready, day and night, to respond to the alarm of fire."

The part the fire services will play in meeting disaster was related by Kyle D. Laughlin, Washington, chief of the Fire Rescue Division of the Civil Defense Agency.

He told the firemen equipment will be available to them to measure the hazards from radiation they may some day have to face in meeting an atomic attack.

McKeldin Gives Bond To Frisco; Shellmar Pays $15.40 In 7th

Surviving a claim of foul lodged by the jockey of the horse that finished in second place, Mrs. E. Austin's Penn-Mar, broke his maiden at Fairgo yesterday when he won by photo finish over Mestee in the featured Governor's Day Purse, sixth race on the program. The 3-year-old son of Air Target, ridden by Apprentice Eddie Christison of Toronto, Canada, stepped off the 6 1/2 furlongs in 1:23 2/5 to win by a head and returned a $17.80 mutuel, the best payoff recorded in the eighth day of the Cumberland Fair Association's 10-day session. Bagagold took show money.

After the stewards disallowed Jockey Robert Runyon's claim of foul, Governor Theodore R. McKeldin presented a savings bond to George E. Frisco, trainer of the winning horse. The state's chief executive was introduced by James S. Getty, chairman of the Republican State Central Committee of Allegany County.

Clark Ties Kirk's Mark
 The Governor's Day card was highlighted by the riding of the sensational Willie Clark, the Mt. Holly, N. J., saddlesmith, who equaled the track's all-time record of 22 wins, set by Carson Kirk in 1943, by booting home a quartet of winners for the second time during the meeting. Clark scored with Zany, owner by Mrs. L. M. Duncan of Cumberland, in the opener; Triple-Crown in the second, Errard Lea in the fourth and St. Michaels in the eighth. With two days to go before the meet ends, Willie is expected to crack the record that has stood for 12 years.

Christison enjoyed his best day of the meeting by scoring twice on good-priced steeds. After registering with Penn-Mar in the sixth at $17.80, Eddie came right back in the succeeding number, rode G. A. Kilgore's Shellmar home 1 1/2 lengths ahead of Knot Later and those who backed the 9-year-old gelding received $15.40 for $2.

Double Is Low For Meet
 The third best price of the day was posted at the close of the third when Polly's Secret, with Lamar Bauer up, raced home ahead of Jeepstress and Edward L. to return $12. Mr. Frostburg, the odds-on-favorite, proved a disappointment and finished fifth in a field of eight.

F. Deminger's Triple-Crown marked up his second win of the meeting by taking the second race on the card and coupled with Zany for a daily double payoff of $9.00, the smallest for the eight days. Mrs. C. P. Chenoweth's Errard Lea annexed the fourth for his second win here and St. Michaels repeated a previous triumph here by taking the eighth.

Chenoweth Notches Sixth
 Errard Lea's win, incidentally, was the sixth credited to Trainer C. P. "Buck" Chenoweth, of Hyde, Baltimore county, Md., and put him two up on his closest competitors for top honors.

Chalk players had an off day as only three favorites finished in front during the afternoon. Thirty-one first choices have won here in 64 races, dropping the average below 50 per cent.

Approximately 5,000 persons were present and the mutuel handle of $173,233 was $6,322 less than was wagered on the 8th day of 1954. Betting is now off to $2,591. To date the total handle is $1,311,533 compared to last year's $1,314,124.

Today Is Moose Day
 Today is Loyal Order of Moose Day and the fifth has been designated as the feature event, with Marvin Maisner, deputy supreme secretary of Mooseheart, Ill., slated to present a trophy to the owner of the winning horse.

Times-News Wins, 9-7
 The Times-News defeated the Exchange Club in a Hot Stove Baseball League game last night at Penn Avenue Field, 9-7. Jack Weltman was the winning pitcher and Richards the loser.

Frank Sullivan Hurls 2-Hitter Against Tigers

Jensen, Zauchin Hit Homers In 7-0 Win

BOSTON, June 23 (AP)—Frank Sullivan's fine two-hit pitching and tremendous home runs by Jackie Jensen and Norm Zauchin catapulted the red hot Red Sox into a virtual tie for fourth place with Detroit today as Boston blanked the Tigers, 7-0.

Sweeping the three-game series to gain their 14th triumph in 16 games and a 9-1 record on the current home stand, the Sox have a .515 percentage on a 34-32 record—a slim point behind Detroit's .516. Sullivan, posting his ninth triumph against six defeats, yielded an inning-opening double to Bill Tuttle in the fourth and a two-out double to pinchhitter Ferris Fain in the eighth but neither could advance. Big Sully fanned three and walked four.

Jensen's home run was a grand slam and Zauchin's a two-run blow.

The fear of Ted Williams played a part in the contest as he drew three walks and singled before retiring for a pinchrunner in the sixth.

Byrd Shuts Out Washington, 7-0

WASHINGTON, June 23 (AP)—Harry Byrd held Washington to four hits today for a 7-0 win for the Chicago White Sox to sweep a 3-game series.

It was Byrd's second victory for the White Sox since he was sent there by Baltimore recently.

The defeat boosted the Senators losing streak to 13 out of 14 games—the last six of them in a row. Byrd allowed only one runner to reach second base as Chicago walked the Senators for the eighth straight time. Nelson Fox doubled across two runs in the third inning and the White Sox increased their lead to 3-0 in the fifth on successive doubles by Minnie Minoso and George Kell.

Fairgo Briefs

Only two owners who have won legs on the Clifton W. White Trophy are at Fairgo, namely Ashley Clatterbuck and John Foster, and both are expected to send thoroughbreds postward in the feature race on Getaway Day—Saturday.

The White trophy, named in honor of the general manager of the fair association who served from 1942 through 1949, and died May 27, 1954, was won in 1945 and 1944 by John Foster's Cushmanacree. Another win would give Foster permanent possession of the trophy. Clatterbuck's Weatherman, now on the breeding farm, was the 1950 winner.

Here are the past winners of the White, which became a memorial event a year ago:

Year Winner
1954—Nimble Lady Mrs. E. Snyder
1953—Many Gifts Ed Samaha
1952—Bill's Best Mrs. J. Hunter
1951—Judge Elkins Mrs. J. C. Collins
1950—Weatherman A. Clatterbuck
1949—Flicka Foot Dr. P. A. Rothfus
1948—Rough Cloud Mrs. J. Y. Christmas
1947—Beau Wynn N. S. Seava
1946—Annie Dream R. N. Warren
1945—Cushmanacree John Foster
1944—Cushmanacree John Foster
1943—Annie Dream won but was disqualified and Beau Wynn was moved from second to first.

Jockey Willie Clark has not been shut out on any day of the meeting as yet. He has had 55 mounts and has been in the money 33 times with a 22-5-6 record. Here's how his winning record stands:

1st Day — (Two Winners) — Triple Crown, Jet Joy.
2nd Day — (Three Winners) — Suebarb, Pendra, Spherical.
3rd Day — (Three Winners) — Pinch-Hit, Crank Handle, Cannoneer.
4th Day — (Two Winners) — Miss Drag Out, Pendra.
5th Day — (Four Winners) — Flemish Maid, Good Valley, Jet Joy, November Morn.
6th Day — (Two Winners) — Gun Maker and Ester Jack.
7th Day — (Two Winners) — Worth A Name, Crank Handle.
8th Day — (Four Winners) — Zany, Triple-Crown, Errand Lea, St. Michaels.

When St. Michaels won yesterday's eighth he became the ninth repeater at the current session. Other two-time winners are Triple-Crown, Crank Handle, Bright Crown, Jet Joy, Golden Dodie, Pendra, Spherical and Errand Lea.

Jockey Jimmy Baird cancelled mounts yesterday after it was discovered he had suffered a broken bone in his ankle, according to Johnny Bejsak, custodian of the jockeys' room. The injury was suffered during a morning workout several days ago.

Anthony "Tony" Russo, who rode during the second, third, fourth and fifth days of the meeting and turned in a 5-6-3 record, is now at Delaware Park.

Horses trained by C. P. "Buck" Chenoweth have earned $3,935 for their owners with six wins and one third place finish.

Ronald E. Brannon of Helen Street, has obtained a permit at the building engineer's office to construct a one-story residence on Calvin Street. The 48 by 34-foot building will cost an estimated $7,000, have brick walls, asphalt shingle roof and concrete block foundation.

Indians Trim Orioles, 9-2

Woodling And Feller Star For Cleveland

BALTIMORE, June 23 (AP)—Gene Woodling tormented his former Baltimore teammates today by driving in four Cleveland runs with a perfect four-for-four as the Indians trounced the Orioles 9-2 behind Bob Feller's four-hit pitching.

The Tribe made Feller's second victory of the season against three losses a front-running cruise, pounding Dee Pillette and Jim McDonald for its tallies in three-run clusters over the opening three frames.

The 36-year-old Cleveland right-hander fanned one and walked only three. He was working on a no-hitter until Wayne Causey spoiled it with a looping single to right with one away in the Baltimore fifth.

Television And Radio

by John Crosby

People Still Read

A librarian named Helen Evelyn Peerless of the Queens Borough (N. Y.) Public Library has compiled a massive bit of research on the effect of television on reading. Of course, she is not the first to do this but her thesis seems to me to be the most impartial and most thorough.

Also it happens to support my own prejudices in the matter, which is important. People—not just me, but everybody—like to sniff at surveys which come out for the opposite point of view. Slanted, they'll say. Too small a sample. Loaded questions. But if they happened to agree they'd ignore all those factors. (I once knew a comedian who spent years deriding the Hooperatings—until he got in the first 10, when he went around quoting his Hooperating to anyone who would listen.)

Anyway, Miss Peerless's conclusions, based on a staggering amount of research, are, in the main, reassuring. The effect of television on reading is only temporarily bad; in the long run, television may very well increase rather than lower the amount of reading you do. The most pregnant bit of a 134-page thesis (which, incidentally, she undertook simply to get promoted to Grade 4 librarian) is this:

"Where reading was an ingrained habit to begin with, it did not take long to re-establish itself. Statistics show that, although only 29 per cent of TV owners read books, only 35 per cent without sets do either. The difference of 6 per cent is not particularly alarming."

In other words don't blame television. A lot of people just don't read books—and that's that. Now as to reading of all sorts—news-papers, magazines, and the rest of it: "Television complements rather than destroys other media. Its overall effect is that of broadening, if not deepening, popular horizons." And in this connection, she quotes Andrew Heiskell, publisher of Life:

"To the average person each new interest makes him that much more receptive to further information and knowledge. As each American, thanks to education and to these media, climbs the cultural scale he becomes both a more valuable citizen and a better customer for these media."

Now that makes a lot of sense, too. In intellectual circles, there is a widely-believed sophism that mass media—like radio or television—are automatically dangerous, that they dilute culture. It is assumed that Jackie Gleason will lure people away from the study of Aristophanes. Actually, the people who are studying Aristophanes are going to pay no attention to Jackie Gleason, whereas the people who listen to Gleason may—if they listen long enough—hear of Aristophanes where they would not otherwise.

A little culture is better than none. One of the questions Miss Peerless asked was whether people took a famous book out of the library after seeing it dramatized on television.

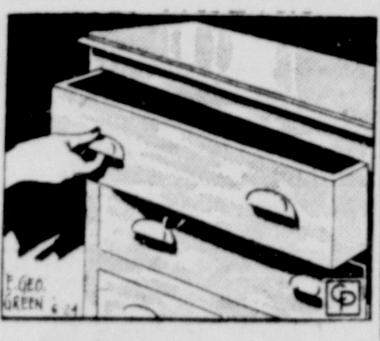

A surprising number do just that. Of course, as Miss Peerless admits, they are mostly young people—the proportion drops off sharply after the 20s—and mostly students, but that fact that any one is stirred to get a classic after seeing it on the Robert Montgomery show is encouraging indeed. Miss Peerless even makes the point that reading a TV columnist's review of, say, "Great Expectations" or "Macbeth" calls people's attention to classics they might not otherwise have heard of.

"The paradox of the Queens Borough Public Library's rising circulation and the borough-wide TV-penetration of 88 per cent (in 1953) indicates that reading and television are highly compatible. The TV set is now an accepted part of the American home; in most cases it has been there long enough for the novelty to have worn off," she concludes.

People, I admit, still read fewer books than they ought to; but then they always did.

WIFE PRESERVERS

When you are buying a chest of drawers, it is a good idea to pull out a drawer by one handle. If it comes out and goes back easily, it is well made and fitted. If it slips out of line and binds, it is not so good.

Contract Bridge

by Josephine Culbertson

ONE-SIDED BIDDING

It is hard to see how South could have done more than he did to sound out the slam contract in the deal below, but the trouble was that his partner did virtually nothing.

West dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.

| | | | |
|---------------|----------|---------------|-----------|
| ♠ A J 9 8 5 4 | ♥ J 9 3 | ♦ K 8 6 | ♣ 10 |
| ♠ A K Q | ♥ 10 7 2 | ♦ 10 | ♣ A J 9 6 |
| ♠ A J 9 6 | ♥ K Q 6 | ♦ A Q J 7 5 2 | ♣ 8 4 |

The bidding:
West North East South
1♥ 1♠ Pass 2♥
2♦ 2♠ Pass 4♦
Pass 4♠ Pass 5♠
Pass Pass Pass

West's lead had no bearing—it is plain enough that the only loser in the North-South hands was a club. So the 750-point slam bonus was missed.

South was not at all pleased with this result, and said to North, "Don't you think that you could have gone to six on the strength of your singleton club and the king of my suit?"

North didn't think any such thing, and said as much. He pointed out that his vulnerable overall in itself had been somewhat skimpy in respect to high cards and argued from this that he could not afford to make another aggressive move. Using the specious (and very annoying) "clinch" that is heard at so many bridge tables, North said that if South had been so slamminded, he simply should have gone ahead and bid the slam.

This, of course, was a meaningless sort of argument. South had no way of knowing that North could control the club suit, nor could he know that North would produce the solidifying diamond king. The truth was that only North could logically take the final step, on the strength of South's beautifully graphic bidding. The point about North's original overall being a minimum was not nearly so pertinent as was the obvious fact—realizable only by North—that his own and partner's hand fitted perfectly.

Group To Study Resources In County Area

Teachers Plan Conservation Tour

Conservation of natural resources in Allegany County will be observed over the weekend by 25 teachers engaged in a summer course at Western Maryland College, Westminster.

Donald Emerson, Mt. Savage High School teacher, is instructor of the course for teachers throughout the state. Those to make the trip were selected by each county board of education.

The course includes 20 members of a beginners' group and five studying in an advanced section. Following activities on Saturday, the "students" will meet at the Mt. Savage School at 9 a. m. on Sunday. Emerson will guide the group around his outdoor science laboratory which he conducted during the regular school term.

Martin Gordon and Stuart Delbrook of the Soil Conservation Service, along with Kenneth Stone, soil scientist, will show stereoscopic aerial photographs of the Mt. Savage area so that the class will see the effects of erosion over general terrain.

At 10 a. m. the Bafrelville Clay Mine on Wills Mountain will be inspected. Robert Hostetler, foreman of the Mt. Savage Refractories mine, will act as guide.

"Corriganville's Limestone Quarry, owned by the Fry Stone and Coal Company, Mercersburg, Pa., is also on the present itinerary.

At noon the group plans to return to Mt. Savage School to prepare an outdoor picnic dinner.

Cumberland's immediate area will be inspected on Sunday afternoon as the class will proceed out Williams Road to observe multi-flora rose, which is planted to serve as a living fence, for wildlife purposes, as a windbreak, and for many other useful purposes; the scenic view from Irons Mountain; the Consolidated Orchard, planted on contour; the windbreak used by the orchard; and the particular soil type of the orchard area.

Included in the trip will be a view of soil erosion; the underground stream at Big Spring, a natural spring which is the beginning of Murley's Branch stream; fence on contour; contour strip cropping; use and misuse of land; and the farm pond at the end of the Murley's Branch road.

At the close of this final trip the class will travel back to Westminster.

Zoning Board Approves Six Appeals Cases

One Permit Denied, Another Is Tabled

The City Board of Zoning Appeals last night approved six appeals from decisions of the city engineer in regard to occupancy and building permits, tabled another and denied one appeal at a meeting in City Hall council chamber.

The board approved the appeal of Harry F. Brant, 1300 Lexington Street, who applied to build a 11-foot by 20-foot garage at the rear of his lot. The permit had been turned down on grounds that the garage took too much lot space in the business zoning district.

Similarly the appeal of Carl H. Nave, 708 Lincoln Street, to build a concrete block garage at the rear of his property was approved by the board. It also had been denied by the engineer for occupying too much space.

Roy C. Hansrote, 609 Piedmont Avenue, applied to build a one-story brick dwelling on Massachusetts Avenue in a Residential B zoning district. The permit was okayed by the board with the stipulation that Hansrote keep his dwelling 10 feet from the building line of the adjoining property.

Also approved was the request of James H. Hoffman, 25 Hawthorne Avenue, who wants to enclose a 10-foot by 28-foot one-story porch located in a Residential B district. The board approved the permit when Hoffman said no addition would be made to the dwelling. The porch overlooks a steep embankment and Hoffman said he wanted to enclose it as a safety measure.

The appeal of Miss Marie Williams and Mrs. James Amstrutz, 301 Pulaski Street, to occupy the front room of the residence for a grocery store was approved when William Williams, appearing for his sister and sister-in-law, said the store would be a delicatessen store similar to one which previously had been operated across the street.

Charles H. Nevy, 712 Brookfield Avenue, had his request for a permit to build a brick veneer dwelling on Prince George Street approved. The lots where the building would be erected wouldn't permit enough space between properties under the Residential B zoning laws, but the board approved the permit if Nevy centered his dwelling.

The board decided to table the appeal of Henry Miller, 115 Potomac Street, who applied for a permit to occupy Lots 93, 94, 95 and 96 for use for car parts and storage of non-ferrous metals.

Thomas N. Berry, attorney representing Miller, said his client would enclose the business and the board promised a decision within a reasonable period of time.

Denied was the request for a permit to build an apartment building over a garage at 713 Louisiana Avenue by K. Albert Wolfe.

The appeal had been tabled at the board's last meeting and the board, which granted Wolfe the permit to erect a garage on his property, said last night it would not permit the apartment building to be erected as the Residential B zoning laws prohibit two dwellings on one lot.

Attending last night's meeting were the applicants, Charles P. Roeder, chairman of the board; James C. Gardner, secretary; William B. Orndorff, member; Attorney Earl E. Mangus; and City Engineer C. R. Nuzum.

Frederick Wins Bid For 1956 Fire Meeting

The Maryland State Firemen's Association last night voted to hold its 1956 convention in Frederick. Frederick was favored $29 to 286 over Ocean City, which also made a bid for the convention which this year brought up to 3,500 volunteer firemen and their wives to this city.

Frederick was the site of the first state firemen's convention in 1893 and as late as 1946.

Upon the announcement of the site of the 1956 convention, James S. Getty, a member of Good Will Fire Company of Lonaconing, invited the delegates to hold their 1957 convention in Lonaconing.

Getty pointed out that Lonaconing was host to the state fire convention in 1902, 1911, 1915, 1929 and last in 1940.

He assured the association that the people of Lonaconing will extend the same hearty welcome they have on each occasion in the past.

A severe rain and hailstorm struck the Oldtown area shortly after 6 p. m. yesterday and caused some damage to trees and fruit buds during the 15 minutes the storm lasted.

Hard rain struck at Fairgo during the race meet at 6 o'clock and highways in the area south of Cumberland were made slick by the sudden downpour.

Very slight rain fell in Cumberland, although the skies were dark and threatening.

Bowling Green Fireman Is Honored For Bravery

The valor of an Allegany County volunteer fireman was recognized last night by the Maryland State Firemen's Association at its 63d annual convention here.

Honored for heroism was Henry C. Convery, secretary of the Bowling Green Volunteer Fire Company, for his part in saving the life of Carl Buckley of that community early this April.

Convery was cited for rescuing Buckley from his smoke-filled home and then administering artificial respiration to the man, who had been overcome by the fumes.

He was awarded a certificate of valor in connection with the presentation of the Colburn Cup, awarded annually by the association for heroic deeds performed by its members during the year.

The cup was presented to Carl W. Pollitt Jr., of the Hebron Volunteer Fire Company, for the rescue of a three-year-old child trapped in a runaway car early in February.

The Venemann Trophy, for outstanding work in fire prevention was awarded to the Silver Spring Fire Company and accepted by Chief Nelson Thayer.

$150,000 Suit Filed Here As Result Of Crash

A 24-year-old serviceman has been sued for $150,000 in Allegany County Circuit Court as a result of a head-on collision in which four were hurt on U.S. Route 40 three miles west of Grantsville on July 7, 1954.

Elva B. Pease, 36, and her husband, Elmer L. Pease, 40, both of Star Route, Montgomery City, Mo., filed two suits for damages as the outgrowth of the collision, through their attorney, Thomas N. Berry, of Cumberland, against Joseph L. Ivery, stationed at Bergstrom Air Force Base in Texas.

Mrs. Pease, in asking $125,000 damages, claims permanent injuries of the legs and hips, shock, and long confinement in hospitals recovering from the injuries, large medical expenses, and loss of employment in her profession as a licensed practical nurse.

Her husband asks $25,000 damages for injuries sustained in the crash, medical expenses, and loss of services of his wife. Pease listed his occupation as a farmer.

The suits claim it negligence on the part of Ivery, who was driving the car which crashed into the Pease automobile, caused the mishap.

The two cars met head-on when Ivery's car attempted to pass a truck headed east toward Cumberland and skidded into the Pease vehicle which was traveling west at the time.

Injured in the crash besides the Peases were Ivery, who suffered severe head injuries, and another serviceman, Otis L. Stanton, 24, who had severe head lacerations. Both were hospitalized, along with the Pease family.

During the convention, ritualistic officers to make plans for the work is to be conducted by the championship degree team from Catonsville, and a number of other interesting features are figured in the festivities.

Over 500 are expected to attend the three-day convalesce.
